TWO SCHOOLS SHARE HONORS AT FESTIVAL

Victoria and Eastwood Capture Competitions at Festival

Victoria and Eastwood High schools shared honors in the school chorus competitions at the Thursday evening session of the Alberta Schools' Festival at the Dougall United church and all members of all choruses had the distinction of singing at least one of the songs they had sung under Dr. Thomas Armstrong's direction as he massed the choirs and directed them and led them through their tests.

Both schools in this city now who are staking to friends that they have the best school chorus of the organist of Exeter cathedral, Victoria High school, conducted by Mr. H. C. Parker, competition with 94 marks, while Eastwood, conducted by Mr. H. C. Parker, won the junior girls' chorus for those under 18, with 85 marks.

THE FOX SINGERS

Victoria and Eastwood were tied for second place to Victoria, with 42 marks each.

Of the 120 girls' and the Victoria chorus in particular, Dr. Armstrong said that the ensemble work was the best, and the girls worked well together, although the tone was apt to sing through the blend.

Dr. Armstrong said that Harold Samuel was prewalled upon to delight the audience with two piano solos.

Ascending the platform and pronounced applauding and Mr. M. S. Samuels in acknowledging the demonstration said: "I am now going to drop in and begin competition of many years standing and the piano, wherever he sat down and gave a superb performance.

CALGARIAN WINNERS

Verdon Isabel Leigh, Calgary, won the senior violin competition with 100 marks, and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard G. Young, Edmonton, with 130, won the organ competition.

The instrumental trio for violin, cello and piano, was won by the H. H. McMillan, violin, and H. H. McMillan, piano. The trio consists of Howard J. McMillan, violin, Howard J. McMillan, cello, and Marion J. McMillan, piano.

From a strong and formidable list of entries, Jessie Cadman, 15-year-old Calgary vocalist, won the open soprano competition, with 100 marks for her two test pieces. Anna D. Bowdoin and Edna Kay, Edmonton, tied for second place with 98 marks each.

Rioting Subdued in Bombay District

BOMBAY, India, May 20.—Gover- nment forces suppressed the Fifth Bombay Field Brigade, the British Artillery Auxiliary force and the Indian Artillery Auxiliary force made up of non-European troops to supplement His Majesty's regular Indian army.

It was reported that there was rioting and a measurable return of confidence, the governor thought it necessary to call a special committee, but the principle involved is an important one and in the opinion of the committee, the matter should be left to the board of directors.

APPLY TO ALL

Administrative recommendations should apply specifically to all officers of the company irrespective of their rank.

"If you won't make your breath you won't sing when you might as well quit," he said.

He subjected a type of singer to a series of tests and found that in much good being done. Most singers opened their mouths in the up and down manner. This was wrong. He counseled them to sing at a and arrested 40 Hindus.

Ships' Graveyard Is To Be Cleared For Sandy Beaches

Children to Bathe in Harbor Unenclosed by Ancient Ships

BOSTON, May 20.—The story of the East Boston waterfront is two parts—"before" and "after." In the old days, rusty iron and decaying parts of long abandoned ships there will be a sandy beach, with white sand for the safety and happiness of all the children in the neighborhood.

Off and on, the people of East Boston, living near the docks and bridges, have cleared their rakes and shovels and wheelbarrows to the waterfront to do a little beautifying themselves. Fred Flaherty, who also lives in the district, decided the best thing to do was to make a bathhouse where the old ships were scattered. The men of the neighborhood, working for pay, have cleared away the debris and when the work is completed, the Port Authority will have a bathhouse which is naturally a sandy beach.

With further assistance from the Boston Harbor Dredging Committee, which owns the land on which the useless ships were beached, the Boston Harbor Dredging Company, which offers sand at a cheap rate and free trucking to the beach, and the efforts of City Councillor William H. Barker, a shore of shining sand will extend from the old ships to the hulls and planks on oddy assorted levies.

The Port Authority states a Boston newspaper, was not created to be a bathhouse.

It has had an appropriation of some $65,000 to remove the old ships and to clear the area of the waterfront of East Boston and Chelsea Creek an eye-sore for years.

With the help of unemployed men to work, blasting out the ancient ships that were too far gone to be cleared by the sun and storms. It hopes to get more money shortly, on an emergency basis, to continue the clearing of the waterfront, removing the debris that can be cleared by hand.

The clearing out of sixteen old hulls will be the first step in the cleanup of the neighborhood, a breeding place for rats and a danger to children.

It is the hope of the city to play among them was some of the original work of the Port Authority.

With the help of the bathhouse, the city is planning to get others interested in the area.

BIELBY LOSES LIVELY POLICE COURT BATTLE

Vainly Protests as Magistrate Sends Him to Cells

William Bielby is going to jail for five days. Going to jail under protest is only William Bielby's way of getting his way, as a result of a court order of Magistrate Col. George B. McLeod, the man Bielby has been threatening to kill.

During the entire morning in the police court, Bielby, whose case was at the foot of the docket, paced up and down like a caged animal.

As he did, Magistrate McLeod entered the room he burst forth with his first complaint.

"I've been in custody three days," cried Bielby, "waiting for Magistrate McLeod to come. He's been here all day. I've been in custody three days. I'm going to jail."

Then he explained Magistrate

McLeod, "started on April 20, when you were remanded for two days to the dockets. I was up on the dockets and haven't seen you since then. Then the dogs are still here with no license."

"Why didn't you come in April?"

"I had no money."

"Have you any money now?"

"Not a nickel."

"Then why do you expect to get a lawyer? The case will proceed."

"I'll take it at the appeal court," threatened Bielby.

"Are your dogs still in the city?" asked the magistrate.

"Yes, I've got them off the streets."

Wallace Armour was first witness for the defense. He said Bielby had had the dogs to his (Armour's) farm in the country. The dogs had run amuck through the farm and had to be turned out again.

Bielby then took the stand and the magistrate explained that he was already sworn in from the last time.

"I want to be put under oath."

"I listen to you," barked his witness.

"All right," condescended Bielby.

"You have already been sworn."

"Well if I can't give evidence under oath, I'll just have to give it in the old days."

PRICES TAKE FIRMER HOLD AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG, May 20.—Influenced by former Liverpool cables reflecting a slackening of export from the Argentine, and by the fact that the wheat crop over the United States winter wheat fields grain prices moved to higher levels today. Prices closed 5¢ to 10¢ higher.

May gained 5¢ to 8¢; July 5¢ to 10¢; September 5¢ to 10¢.

Only a scattered export was worked out with buyers less during the Bremen offers and this, coupled with the Argentine's firm stand, caused a slight increase in the United States wheat market. The market in France and the United States showed a slight increase in the market to higher prices here. The better tone of the market was reflected in the wheat's influence.

Each wheat crop was slow and demand not keen. Spreads were unchanged. The market for barley the coarse grain section was dull and needed.

CHAPTER XXXV

Ackroyd away from the Gladstones' party on New Year's eve had formulated no exact plan. He was not sure that he wanted to be quick, prying mind had seized on the little drama as the excuse for the visit. He was the most popular, the poor working girl, Denise, was the one he was courting, young Robert Dunbar, whom each had to him.

He had been to Town's proved rather dull. There had been too much noise, too much talk, and he had made them both ill-tempered with quite knowing why. The man had learned his lesson, and was determined, however, to

BEAUTIFUL EYES

Naturally large, bright, colorful eyes are the most attractive attractiveness. In the eyes, when make-up is performed, the lids, make-up by covering lids, lashes and eyebrows. Pale lashes, a pencil or darkener or an eyebrow pencil or darkener or dark lashes worn if desired, may be used. The eyes are tinted with blue shadow if the eyes are blue. Green shadow may be used for brownish or green or hazel eyes, and brown shadow for brown eyes. Brown eyes seem more brilliant than artificial lighting.

To make eyes correctly appear a little of it in a line just above the lid, and a little of it just below the lid, color upward with the tip of the little finger. Draw a very faint line from the eye corner under the lower lashes to the outer corner. This will make the eyebrows into place with your small eye brush tinted with a color that will match the eye shadow and apply the eye pencil or darkener, and the eye shadow.

Of course, to be beautiful, the eyes must be well made up, thick and glossy. Plucking them into an artificially curved straight line is not in vogue. The natural curve must be emphasized and the eyes must be well made up. The character and contrast to the skin and facial contour. Eyes should be bathed in water, a minute or two, with a brush dipped in oil to keep them from getting dry, and then a portion of face powder. Whatever eye colouring is used should be repeated on the eyelids, and a cold cream or vaseline.

Remember, too, that the eyes themselves reflect the physical condition of the body. If the health is poor, the eyes will be registered in the eyes. Confusion, eye strain, nervousness, all indicate the physical condition of the body, female disturbances, kidney and heart trouble, all registered in the eyes and the tissues around them. Local treatments are of little use in cases. Those who use their eyes for clear work day in and day out, should exercise them to relax the muscles, and to examine their eyes and have them examined at regular intervals, so that they will serve them for the years. And it must be remembered that the body is that which nourishes the tissues around the eyes as well as the eyes. Therefore, it is necessary to eat wisely and exercise the tiny muscles around the eyes to keep the eyes selves beautiful.

Here are some exercises that must be taken regularly to exercise the muscles around the eyes, as well as the eyes themselves. Close your eyes tight for a second or two, then open them wide, then close them again, then look sideways to the right and back again five times. Close and open again five times. Close and open again five times in the first five minutes. Look upward and downward five times, then left and right five times.

(2) Cover your eyes with your hands, and imagine you have a heavy weight on them, and allow your eyes to travel around the hoop from left to right, then down-right to left. Repeat five times. Close and open again five times, and, without moving the head, gaze toward the ceiling, then to the right, then upward and downward and back again to right and left, then down-right to left, but do not strain. Gradually move the arms and head, and make a further effort to move the fingers. Rest the eyes for a few moments, then repeat the exercise on the object in the distance higher than the head. Lean back the eyes, and close them at regular intervals during the day. When the eyes are tired, close them to relax at close work. Close them and relax for a few seconds and open them again. Do not strain to strain to see the work in front of you. Bather the eyes with tepid water, and a solution of alum, and salt water several times a week.
